New press day for Review

Surprise—here we are on the newsstands and in your mailbox one day earlier than usual. The changeover came last week and caught us somewhat unaware.

To serve both our readers and our advertisers better, we are now publishing on Tuesdays.

Because we are going to press one day early, our deadlines have also moved ahead. Deadline for both news and advertising is now NOON FRIDAY of each week.

We hope you will enjoy "reading all about it" every Tuesday from now on.

Remembrance day plans announced

The Elk Point Royal Canadian Legion Branch No. 151 invites all local groups and organizations to take part in this year's Remembrance Day observances.

The Parade will form up on the south side of the Co-op Store at 10:50 a.m. and will proceed north on 50th Street, turning west past the VIP Reviewing Stand at the Post Office, then south to the Cenotaph at the Pioneer Circle Senior Citizens Centre corner. The parade will arrive at the Cenotaph shortly before 11:00 a.m. for the usual ceremonies and wreath laying.

Interested organizations or individuals wishing to purchase a wreath or make a donation may call Fred at 724-3674 or Helen at 724-2376.

Chamber tomorrow

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce meets at noon on Wednesday, November 7, and has two very important matters on the agenda.

First is to make a start on plans for the Christmas season, whether this will take the form of an Extravaganza close to Christmas, as has been done in recent years, or perhaps an earlier event designed to encourage Elk Point and district residents to shop in their own community this Christmas.

Also at Wednesday's meeting, the Chamber will hear from Stan Parke, area agent for the Chamber of Commerce Group Insurance Plan, which offers special insurance services to Chamber members, and helps local Chambers by the payment of a monthly administration fee.

Chamber members are urged to attend, and to remind their fellow business persons about the meeting. Soup's on at 12:00 noon in the Empress Banquet Room. See YOU there.

Local development initiative

A review of the draft report by the Minister's Council On Local Development brought people from a wide area of northeastern Alberta to Smoky Lake on Thursday, November 1, to take part in the third of four gatherings across the province where feedback on the draft was invited to be given prior to the release of the Council's final report.

Minister of Municipal Affairs Ray Speaker, Minister of Tourism Don Sparrow, Minister of Agriculture Ernie Isley, LDI Council Chairman Lloyd Quantz and Council members Daniel Stepanick, Terry Cavanaugh and John Lijdsman were among those who were welcomed by Smoky Lake Mayor Peter Goruk and Redwater-Andrew MLA Steve Zarusky.

Zarusky said that having so many of his colleagues attend a meeting in one community "shows we have a caring government." He noted that needs and opportunities differ greatly between the areas of his own constituency, as they do throughout the province, and that fact-finding missions such as that carried out by the LDIC are instrumental in "getting rural Alberta back on its feet."

Minister of Municipal Affairs Ray Speaker, who appointed the Council and gave them the mandate of gathering concerns and ideas about revitalization, said he now had "broad input from the regions," which boiled down into four main categories. Albertans want coordination of government services between the regions and the province, better information on available initiatives, education and training on how to go after these initiatives, and an umbrella of programs from the government. He noted that problems effecting the agricultural industry have had a far reaching impact on rural communities.

Minister of Agriculture Ernie Isley elaborated further on the stresses facing the agricultural industry, which are especially serious in regards to cereal grains. This is presently being dealt with in the GATT talks, he said, and "the world scene will have a dramatic impact on the future of cereal grains in Alberta." Isley feels a "three pronged thrust" which would control input costs, put a safety net on prices and provide new markets and value-added initiatives, is necessary if cereal grain production is to continue.

Minister of Tourism Don Sparrow spoke briefly on two programs which help both rural and urban Alberta through his department. Community Tourism Action Plans are underway or completed in 98 percent of Alberta communities, with the average community having set 22 goals. He feels that the planning process, which made communities list their assets and concerns, was "very useful even without the funding," which was made available after plans were in place. Three hundred applications for CTAP project funding have been received, of which 90 percent have been approved. Team Tourism is another popular program, and is administered through the tourism zones. This program too is based on a planning process, with the zones required to formulate marketing plans. Businesses, communities and groups seeking funding through Team Tourism are also required to do marketing plans as part of the recently simplified application process.

Those present were then divided into seven groups, and went through the problems and solutions contained in the draft report to prioritize these in order of importance.

Lack of access to decision makers and volunteer burnout were seen as the top problems in the area of "Being Accessible and Responsible." Solutions were seen to be decentralized bureaucracy, cooperation between government departments, and community-level information sessions.

Volunteer burnout was also seen as one of the top problems in "Providing Life Quality Services" along with the lack of community pride and self esteem and the need for an infrastructure to support recreation services. Solutions to these included more training, professional help and recognition for volunteers, recognition of the importance of having pride in your community, and good management and planning skills for those dealing with recreation.

Problems found in "Leadership By Example" were that little input is often solicited from communities, excessive control often placed upon communities, and the lack of financial prudence. Decentralization, with more government staff at the service level who would be familiar with the needs of the communities, and provision of block funding which communities could determine how to spend would be solutions to this problem, it was felt.

"Stimulating Economic Development and Growth" saw as the primary stumbling blocks a lack of education in entrepreneurial skills, lack of incentive funding, and a lack of cooperative planning and development. Numerous solutions were suggested, including governmental steps toward initiation of marketing processes, having funds earmarked for areas which are away from mountains and cities, issuance of community bonds, an aggressive role by communities in marketing themselves, formation of regional economic development boards, and regional economic assistance in the form of expertise, consultants and programs.

"Supporting, Not Dictating Community Activities" found problems to be a serious lack of communication and coordination at the bureaucratic level, a lack of flexibility in the grant system and high relative costs for development in small communities. This group called for abolishment of the per capita funding system in favor of a fairer formula, availability of maintenance funding, and compensation for extra work placed on locally based inspectors. A need for long term planning at the provincial level was also seen, with the question raised, "Does the province have a Vision 2020 plan to support communities?"

No briefs were brought forward to the forum, but Council Chairman Quantz noted that these could still be submitted as long as it was done immediately, in letter form, either to himself or to the Hon. Mr. Speaker.

"When is something coming to help our community stay alive? is the question out there," the Hon. Mr. Speaker said, in outlining the next step in the process. He expects a final report from the LDI Council on November 15, and hopes to announce details of "items we can follow through on" during the spring session of the Legislature. This will be done "without making another layer of government" by working through the present structure "with the common objective of helping communities to help themselves."

One drawback to the Local Development Initiative process was seen by two local attendees at the session. Hank Holowaychuk of Smoky Lake said "we need grassroots people here. The small business people who this will effect don't have time to be here." Another local added that "the government has forgotten what small business really is. Three day conferences and a minimum of 10 to 15 people for a workshop don't go with small business."

What's news at the library?

This is Canadian Children's Book Week. The Elk Point Public Library is sponsoring Calgary author Marjorie Holland at the Elementary School for Grades 4 to 6 on Thursday morning, November 8.

The Library is very fortunate to be having Janet Foster of Toronto visit our library on November 14 at 7:30 p.m. She will also be visiting Cold Lake and Bonnyville during her tour of Alberta. Be sure to take advantage of this opportunity to be part of this special presentation by this well known author, naturalist, photographer and film maker. A chance like this doesn't come along too often.

The Elk Point Public Library would like to thank Amoco Canada Petroleum Company Limited for the generous donation of $1000 to the library. All donations are greatly appreciated because of the fast rising cost of books and materials.

The library relies on volunteer work to maintain its high level of service. Volunteers are involved in everything including front desk work, typing, cataloguing, setting up in-library displays, reshelving books, inventory, fundraising, program development and helping with storytime. If you have some time to spare and want something interesting to do, why not consider volunteering at the library?

NEW BOOKS:

A shipment of 29 Large Print books has arrived on a six month exchange. Included in this collection are: Heaven by Virginia Andrews; The Blue And The Grey by John Leekley; Three Women In The House by Estelle Thompson; Black Amber by Phyllis A. Whitney and Lone Star Ranger by Zane Grey.

Teens! Be among the first to borrow these books.

Amoco Donates To Library

Adele Mandryk of the Elk Point Library Board gratefully accepts a very generous $1000 donation toward library operations from Ron Johnson of Amoco Canada. Donations of this sort are exceptionally welcome in these days of rising costs.

Curling club fate decided tonight

To curl or not to curl? That will be the question to be decided tonight when members of the Elk Point Curling Club gather to study the operating budget for the upcoming year in an effort to determine whether sufficient funds are in place or can be obtained to keep the rink open this winter.

Registration numbers are down from last year, but it costs the same amount to run the facility with a small membership as a large one. If attendance at bonspiels also continues to drop, the club could find itself faced with a massive deficit at the end of the season.

Solutions proposed have ranged from increasing membership fees to shortening the season, and the entire membership is urged to attend to help to decide the immediate future of the Curling Club.

HOT PERFORMANCE!

Before the incinerators at Alberta's Special Waste Treatment Centre were licensed for use, they underwent six months of testing. In over 25 test burns, most destruction was 99.9999% complete. In other words, if 1,000 gallons of solvent were burned, only one teaspoonful would escape into the atmosphere.

20TH CENTURY ROUND-UPS

In 1989, 71 communities took part in Alberta's "Toxic Round-Up" program, collecting 1,600 45-gallon drums of potentially-hazardous wastes. Halfway through 1990, that figure was already eclipsed. 63 communities had already cleaned up a staggering 1,848 45-gallon drums, ranging in weight from 125 kg to 225 kg.

... and in our community:

Elk Point Lioness Club suggests these Environment Tips:

Clean or change furnace filters regularly * Have your gas furnace inspected and adjusted * Clean lint filter in dryer after every load * Get your car winterized and tuned up * Use automatic timers for cars and lights * Upgrade your home's insulation to the highest levels * Don't forget to insulate your hot water heater and pipes, too, because less energy is being consumed and produced. This will save on heating bills and help the environment at the same time * Install plug guards to help reduce household drafts, also remember to use socket insulators behind light switches on outside walls, it will reduce air leakage.

In Our View

Crimefighters? Us?

"You Hold The Key To Crime Prevention" is the theme of this year's Crime Prevention Week, November 4 to 10. This indicates that it is up to each and every one of us to help keep crimes from occurring.

There are many ways in which we can help to fight crime. Programs such as Rural Crime Watch, Oil Patch Crime Watch, Neighborhood Watch and Block Parents go a long way toward keeping our communities safe, by involving the residents as volunteers who report suspicious activities to law enforcement agencies.

Another way in which we as individuals can fight crime is to protect ourselves and our property by locking the doors of our vehicles and our homes, being careful when dealing with unknown people, and using common sense. Programs such as Lady Beware and the excellent sessions on home and business security will help us to do this.

A second focus of this year's Crime Prevention Week is on family violence and spousal abuse, both of which make home a place to fear, rather than a haven of security. Family violence is a crime, and those who have been assaulted are urged to call the police for assistance. Early police intervention can help to reduce the incidence of family violence.

It is generally true that small communities such as our own are safer places to live than the big cities. This may be so, in a large part, because we do keep an eye on what is going on around us, and because we take part in the crime prevention programs that are offered.

We hold the key to preventing crimes in our community. Let's all cooperate and keep Elk Point a safe and happy place to live and raise our families.

True North, Strong And Free

Wherever we live, in Canada, we have beauty and freedom, from sea to shining sea, from prairies to mountains to cities, the land of hope, opportunity and freedom--and yes, it's all right to be proud of it.

Alberta Trails

God keep our land

By Irene Magnusson

Aware that Remembrance Day will be observed across Canada over the coming weekend, when we will all be thinking (some more than others) about the tragedy of war, the causes of war, the results of war, most of us deploring the need for war, and some of us wondering why there would ever be war, we may be expected to think more intensely of our country.

There are many petty reasons why war ensues, but the most pressing of all, probably always has been, is the threat to one's country. We will fight for our families, for our homes, our jobs, our honor, our money, even our friends. But a threat to our country is possibly the strongest. We will die to defend our country. And many have.

I'm sure every person, in whatever land on this world they live, has feelings of patriotism for his or her land. We here in Canada have every reason to love and revere our land. Whether we were born here, and can call ourselves native, or whether we came of our own accord, or are descendants of others from lands afar, who came for their own reasons, whether seeking release from depressive rulers, food and opportunity for their families, wealth, or just for the spirit of adventure which pushes some persons on and on, we can all be proud Canadians.

For this is a country to be proud of. A country to defend, verbally, or if necessary, physically. We have a country we can shout about, and especially, sing about.

I am referring here to use of our national anthem, "O Canada," which in my youth, we sang every morning at school, before we took our seats. In listening, the other day, to the CBC Radio program from Edmonton, John Hanlon's Wild Rose phone-in show, the question asked was "Should children be required to sing O Canada every day at school?"

Right there my ears popped. I thought all Canadian kids WERE required to sing O Canada every day at school! When did this change come about? I certainly sang it, with the others, during the few years I went to school. Sang it proudly, too.

Now, why in the world would kids NOT be required to learn our National Anthem, and sing it proudly, loud and clear? Whose brainy idea was that, to cut out our national anthem, our one song of pure praise, for our beautiful, best-country-in-the-world, true north, strong and free?

Was it those nit-pickers, who think if we can't say a hundred varieties of religions in one word, we can't say the word religion at all? Was it the few lame-brains who think if we say 'man' or 'mankind' we can only mean the male of the species--and have somehow stabbed all females in the back? Does the word 'native' stick in the craw of a few, thinking that can only mean those born here, or those who occupied this soil before the last wave of explorers came along, or are we only including the 'native' cave-man, here long before the Indians dropped in and chased them out?

Nuts, say I. Canada is "home and native land" to her adopted citizens, as well as we who were hatched here, and it includes all of us, whatever the color of our hides, our eyes, or our religions, creeds, or place of birth. All we have to do is be Canadians, whether by birth or adoption, and to love the country as our own.

This is a love which can and should be cultivated, pressed in and even demanded, as a requisite of living here.

One of the ways of impressing this love of country in young minds, is by the singing of our National Anthem. I was pleased to hear the overwhelming majority of those Canadians who called in during the hour-long program favored the singing of O Canada in schools. Daily. With this I agree.

I became curious about the origins of O Canada; who wrote it and when, asks I. Of course the place to look for this information would be in our nice brand new Canadian Encyclopedia, right? Wrong. They don't even have the word O Canada listed in their index, much less 'who done it.'

I searched elsewhere. These were my results, and may even explain why my born-in-England mother sang O Canada to us in French, all those years ago.

The words,
*O Canada! Terre de nos aïeux
Ton front est cerné de fleurons glo-*

etc., were composed in 1880, by one Mr. Justice Adolphe Basile Routhier, in French, to honor the visit to Quebec of the Governor General, the Marquis of Lorne and Her Royal Highness, Princess Louise. The music was composed by a Quebecer-turned-American, Calixa Lavallee, conductor and artistic director of the New York Grand Opera House. He had returned to Canada, and laid the groundwork for his everlasting fame, by composing the music for O Canada. He conducted its first performance on the Plains of Abraham, near Quebec City, PQ, June 24, 1880.

Later, English words were written, as many as 45 versions, one source says, while another states 20 versions were published. The English version we used, in my day, was written by Robert Stanley Weir, for the tercentenary (300th anniversary) of Quebec, in 1908.

O Canada was published, in its official form, in 1927, for Canada's 60th birthday, the Diamond Jubilee. (A celebration I remember, as we received copper coins at school, especially made for that purpose, one of which I still have.)

By Canada's Centennial year, 1967, all Canada accepted O Canada as our National Anthem, the official proclamation made January 31, 1966, by Prime Minister the Right Honorable Lester B. Pearson. God Save The Queen was, at that time, proclaimed Royal Anthem of Canada.

It may have been at that time, that the last 'adjustment' if the words of O Canada was made--I was unable to get a fix on that, from my many books. This is the segment I--and many of you--have difficulty with, when we join in singing O Canada. This is in the chorus, where we ask "God keep our land" in place of one of the "O Canadas."

When I went to school, we often sang all of the first three verses, and of course we learned them by heart. There is also a fourth verse, seen in one or two of my song books.

In any version, it's a grand old song, and never mind that the French Canadians had it first--we have adopted this song of praise and allegiance for our wonderful country, Canada, and we should be proud to teach it to our kids, in fact should insist it be taught, at the earliest possible age, in EVERY school in Canada. I suppose the reason O Canada is played or sung at sports events, is due to other countries bringing their anthems along, and we don't want to appear wanting.

But we could sing it for joy and pride, and because it is ours--this country we would fight for, and probably die for--but which we so deny and denigrate on occasion.

As for me, when my National Anthem is played or sung--I'll sing along, wholeheartedly, if off-key--for I am proud to be a Canadian, proud of Canada, proud to sing her praises, and yes, I'd fight for her.

Perspective

By Charlie Mahon
Elk Point Town Council

On behalf of the Elk Point Town Council, I attended the feedback forum of the Minister's Council on Local Development in Smoky Lake on November 1, 1990, and I was impressed once again with the level of commitment that the Provincial Government has shown in support of this initiative. Many of the discussions in the 23 Forums the Minister's Council on Local Development held this summer in Alberta pointed to the importance of grass roots efforts, self help initiatives, and the elusive community pride factor. As well, top down infusions of capital and armies of roving government experts and bureaucrats were not seen as necessarily beneficial to Alberta's small communities.

The Minister's Council has made a great effort to reach out and listen to small communities in Alberta, but the language used is the language of head office. Looming behind the Minister's Council has been a massive, entrenched, urbanized and centralized bureaucracy with 20 government departments involved in programs and policies affecting Alberta's small communities. A good percentage of the attendees at the Forums this summer were present on behalf of the many ranks of governmental bureaucracy.

The impersonal nature of bureaucracy provides a ready target, and perhaps it is unfair to direct blanket criticism toward it. But, the Minister's Council is pointing to a reasonable and possible revitalization strategy for small communities in Alberta. Structural change and/or downsizing of the existing public sector behemoth may be the only way to achieve this strategy.

Keepers Of Law And Order

Elk Point RCMP Detachment is ready to serve the town and surrounding area with police protection 24 hours per day, 365 days per year. From left to right are Sgt. Barry Kutryk,

Crime prevention is their career

From the Saskatchewan border to Dog Rump Creek, from Lea Park Bridge to north of the Frog Lake Reserve, from Highway 45 to the top end of Kehewin Lake, six officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police do their utmost to keep law and order on a daily basis. They range from a twenty year veteran with the force to a young man on his first posting, and come from a variety of backgrounds. In their off-duty hours, they are involved with their adopted community in a number of ways.

Sergeant Barry Kutryk is a recent arrival in Elk Point, having transferred here six months ago from Edmonton. He has served in British Columbia, the North West Territories and Yukon during his 20 years with the RCMP. He is married, with four youngsters. Soon after coming to Elk Point, he found himself coaching soccer, and has since become involved in the Ukrainian Dance Club and the Bicentennial Committee.

Constable Doug Huskins has been in Elk Point 7 years, having spent the first 9 years with the force in Red Deer, Brooks and Ottawa. He is married with 2 daughters. The past president of the Gymnastics Club and former Cubmaster spent much of this summer's spare time coaching Mites Girls Softball. He is also on the Camp Whitney Committee of Elk Point United Church. Cst. Huskins was the driving force behind the organization of Safe Grads throughout the Detachment area over the past few years, until this program was discontinued.

Constable Dave Kilby has spent the past year and a half in Elk Point. He previously served in Mayerthorpe. He has been a regular member of the RCMP for eight and a half years, after serving as an auxiliary member for five years in B. C. He is married, with no children, and is a First Aid and CPR instructor, a Firearms Instructor under the Alberta Hunter Education Program, and has organized scuba diving in the Elk Point area.

Constable Fred Ridding has been in Elk Point for all of his four years with the RCMP. He is single, and plays basketball with the Elk Point Pacers. He has also coached soccer and senior girls' basketball.

Constable Daniel Cyr is the newest arrival in Elk Point, and has been here five months on his first posting as a RCMP officer. Originally from New Brunswick, he is single and is a physical fitness buff, especially enjoying bicycling and helping with the Karate program in Fishing Lake.

Constable Al Stockley has served with the RCMP in the Yukon and Alberta for a total of seven years, the last two of these in Elk Point. He is married, with no children, and plays hockey on the Elk Point Hotel team. He was not available for an interview, but his fellow officers tell us he is a former rodeo clown and has some fame as a boater who participated in the rescue squad for the Canada Day raft races—by being rescued himself! Cst. Stockley is the coordinator of the Oil Patch Crime Watch.

All officers of the Detachment are in agreement regarding the importance of one member of their team who has been involved with the Elk Point RCMP longer than any of them—their secretary, Joan Palamarek. Mrs. Palamarek, who calls herself the Detachment 'go-fer,' actually "runs the Detachment—we couldn't function without her," according to the officers. During her nine years in the office, she has worked for four NCOs—Sergeants Chuck Tweedy, Jim Fell, Bruce Best and now, Barry Kutryk, and has seen a number of officers come and go. She is married, with 3 grown children, and relaxes by studying Ukrainian Dancing as an adult student, reading and knitting.

Four auxiliary constables, janitor Frank Johns, and 10 part time guards and matrons also help to keep things rolling smoothly.

The St. Paul Subdivision Highway Patrol, with 8 members, complements the Detachment, by visiting the area on a regular basis.

Elk Point is able to have 24 hour a day police protection, even when no one is in the Detachment office, by means of diverting phone calls to the St. Paul OpsCom office, which then contacts a member of the Elk Point Detachment by radio or telephone.

Crime Prevention

A many faceted job

There is much more to the occupation of being a Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer than touring the highways and byways in a blue and white car and handing out speeding tickets, arresting the perpetrators of family fights and patrolling the streets on Halloween. Crime comes in many forms, and the Force is there to prevent incidents of a criminal nature whenever possible, or to apprehend the culprits when a crime has occurred.

As part of their crime prevention efforts, the Elk Point RCMP Detachment is involved in over a dozen programs which cover a wide range of situations and a good portion of the population.

Rural Crime Watch has become very active in the Elk Point and St. Paul areas recently, with a fairly high involvement from rural residents. Rural Crime Watch was originally set up a number of years ago, but went into a dormant stage. It was recently picked up and rejuvenated by the St. Paul Rural Crime Watch, and now has about 60 members in the area west, south and northwest of Elk Point and in the Lindbergh district. The Heinsburg area is not involved at this time, but plans are underway to expand the area in that direction.

Oil Patch Crime Watch was set up through the major oil companies operating in the Lindbergh Heavy Oil Field, and the subcontract companies they deal with, to report property thefts, sightings of suspicious vehicles and other potential problems. All of the involved companies have contact persons who are phoned when such an occurrence takes place, and who in turn contact the employees to be on the alert for problems. All employees of these companies are part of the program.

Child Identification Program is a community based program in which the RCMP supplies the necessary materials to an organization interested in doing the processing and thumbprinting. This material is also available at the detachment if someone wishes to come down and have their child recorded.

Residential Security Checks and Seminars and Business Security Checks and Seminars are done once in two years, with experts in security devices brought in to offer their advice. The RCMP will also do security checks of individual residences.

Lock It Or Lose It is a campaign involving RCMP checks of vehicles in high crime areas and at high crime times of day. Vehicles found unlocked are affixed with a sticker indicating that the owner should "Lock It Or Lose It."

CHECKSTOP is a province-wide program in which the RCMP and the various city and municipal police departments cooperate with the Solicitor General's Department to curb impaired driving. In our area, this involves random stopping of traffic during 3 to 5 periods per week, at random times and varied locations.

Lady Beware is a program offered by the RCMP to offer information to women on how they can protect themselves against sex-related crimes and other attackers. These sessions are available by request from interested groups, one of these having been done last week in Elk Point.

Operation Provident is part of a Canada-wide identification program for businesses, which issues identification markings for business equipment. Each province has their own set of markings, which makes it easier to find the owners of stolen equipment.

Alcohol and Drug Awareness sessions are also held periodically. The St. Paul Subdivision has an exhibit of illegal substances, which is used by the RCMP as a visual aid to talks which have been given through cooperation with AADAC, FCSS, area high schools, 4-H, the Frog Lake Administration and Fishing Lake Administration. Occasional talks and demonstrations on the use of the breathalyzer are also given to high school law classes.

Bicycle Safety is a popular program with area youngsters. Two programs were conducted in Elk Point this year in conjunction with the Community Services Department, as well as a Bicycle Road-E-O, and one was also done with the cooperation of the Frog

Lake and Fishing Lake Administrations.

Firearms Safety was the subject of a seminar held this year at Frog Lake.

Senior Citizens' Safety was discussed at a seminar held in Elk Point this summer, in conjunction with Consumer and Corporate Affairs and other agencies, which addressed various problems and concerns.

One additional program is slated for future establishment in Elk Point. It is hoped to get Neighborhood Watch underway, an in-town equivalent of the Rural Crime Watch and Oil Patch Crime Watch which are proving successful in the surrounding areas.

Charges laid in car theft, chase

Two area men are facing six charges after a lengthy chase of a station wagon stolen from an Elk Point gas station Wednesday evening.

The two sped away from the station in a car which had been left unattended while its owner was in the adjoining convenience store about 5:30 p.m. that day, and refused to stop for Elk Point RCMP who were soon close behind them. St. Paul and Two Hills RCMP joined the pursuit, which ended when all four tires of the fleeing vehicle were flattened by a spike belt placed across the highway near Two Hills for that purpose.

The men appeared in St. Paul Provincial Court on Thursday to face charges of theft over $1000, possession of stolen property over $1000, failure to stop for a police officer, failure to provide breath samples, impaired driving and dangerous driving, with all charges adjourned to a November 13 court appearance in Elk Point.

The vehicle was not damaged except for its tires.

The gift of books

By Denise Amyotte
FGM Librarian

Books...just the right size to put into a Christmas stocking. Books...they don't need a box to be wrapped. Books...filled with the gift of many hours of quiet reading enjoyment.

Just in time for Christmas, the F. G. Miller High School will be holding a Twig Book Fair in the Library starting November 12 to 16 and November 19, 1990. The first day of our book fair will be held in conjunction with our Parent-Teacher Day. Parents and members of the community are encouraged to drop by the Library (between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.) for coffee and doughnuts and to browse through the selection of books on hand. During the rest of the week, the book fair will be open to the public during noon hour (11:30 a.m. to 12:10 p.m. and on our last day from 3:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m.).

The book fair is geared toward the Junior High and upper Elementary level, but does contain some books for older book lovers. Books range from the traditional story of A Christmas Carol to books dealing with the very real issues of teen pressure, death and AIDS. On the lighter side are books on how to draw monsters, joke books, monster trucks, string games and much, much more. A number of books by Canadian authors have also been included in the package.

As well as books from our book fair, yearbooks from 1988-89 and 1989-90 will be on sale as well. They are priced at $6 and $18 respectively. Orders will also be taken for the upcoming edition of our high school yearbook. Their price has remained at $18. These books are an excellent way to keep up with the hustle and bustle of high school life here at F. G. Miller High.

So...come on down to the F. G. Miller Library and start off your Christmas shopping by picking up the gift of books this holiday season.

Building society formed

At its October 31 meeting the Community Services Building Committee agreed to form a nonprofit society to be called the Elk Point Regional Community Cultural Centre Building Society. The Society's purpose is to develop an appropriate new Community Centre to replace the old Community Services Centre located south of the Elementary School. The membership is comprised of the following interested organizations: the Elk Point Lions, Elk Point Lioness, Pioneer Circle, Elk Point Elks, Community Services Board, Chamber of Commerce, Town Council, Ukrainian Dancers, St. George's Lodge, and the County of St. Paul.

The next meeting of the Building Society will be on November 22 at 7:30 at the Empress Restaurant. This meeting's agenda will be for all the members to agree on what facilities the new building will contain and what size it will be. The decisions will be based on the findings of the Feasibility Study, which was completed this past spring, but may contain new elements such as a museum which may be made possible through grants. The next step for the Society will be to select an architect to prepare a concept design and a scale model.

Any organizations interested in becoming a part of this project are invited to contact the Society through its secretary, Stephen Montgomery, at 724-3800. Individuals are welcome to become involved as well.

Community services news

November is Family Violence Prevention Month in Alberta. Family violence is all around us and affects us all. The monetary costs that can be attributed to family violence are astronomical. Each year millions of taxpayers' dollars are spent on services because of the violence which occurs in families. Family violence can and does take many forms including child abuse, spouse abuse and elder abuse.

Children, troubled by abuse, act out their hurt with their classmates. They often require a great deal of their teachers' time and their schools' other resources to cope with their learning and behaviour problems. In some cities, about 90 percent of adolescents who run away from home do so because of abuse. Moreover, a significant amount of criminal behaviour can be linked to perpetrators' abused childhoods.

Family violence affects our workplaces. Employees suffering the effects of family violence may be difficult to work with, nonproductive, and in some cases even dangerous to work with because of their preoccupation with their home situation.

Elder abuse is less well-known. It is difficult for anyone being abused to tell someone who can help, but for some seniors it may be impossible because of isolation or physical incapacitation.

Over the next several weeks Community Services will be presenting a series of articles which will explain in more detail how to recognize these types of abuse and what to do about it.

If you know someone who is suffering family violence contact Community Services and we will make the appropriate referral. Our phone number is 724-3800.

Thursday will be another high point in the week, with Elk Point Public Library sponsoring a visit by children's author Marjorie Holland of Calgary. Ms Holland will speak to the Grade 4, 5 and 6 students in the Music Room in two sessions, at 9:15 and 10:30 a.m.

Senior Boys Volleyball

By Jim Tilton
Coach

This last Wednesday in Mallaig, the Elk Point Senior Boys Volleyball team took both their matches against Saddle Lake and Mallaig. The team effort was very solid, with an extra strong performance put forth by Todd Younghans. Last Saturday in Elk Point, the boys came fourth in their own tournament, with Shane Brochenko playing extra well. On the 12th and 14th of November, the team moves on to the district and zone playoffs. The provincials are slated for the 24th of November. I feel the team has a very good chance of making it to the Provincials this year, if they play the kind of volleyball they are capable of. Our next home games are this Wednesday night, and Monday, November 12. Parents, students and friends are all welcome. Your team support would be appreciated.

Craft Shop Proprietor

Ellen Ziomek has materials for crafts as well as selling crafts on consignment in her new shop, Akdeem Decorating in the Plaza 75 Mall.

New shop offers unique service

Some craft enthusiasts find that their homes are becoming overstuffed with the results of their labors, and that they have already given the same sort of items as gifts to everyone they can think of. Still, they just can't break the habit of picking up their needle or crochet hook or paintbrush when it's time for relaxation.

Now we have a shop which can help you to thin out your collection of craft goods, and help put a few dollars in your pocket besides. Akdeem Decorating, located behind Reddi Mart in the Plaza 75 Mall, will take these items and sell them on consignment for you, for a small handling fee. Proprietor Ellen Ziomek already has a number of consignments in her shop, ready for early Christmas shoppers.

Gift and home decorating items may also be found in ready-to-make form. Ms Ziomek has plastic canvas, latch hook kits, yarn, liquid embroidery, leatherwork and needlepoint, plus a small selection of fabric remnants—just stop in and get some ideas for crafts to keep you busy on those long winter evenings.

Akdeem Decorating is open 10:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Tuesday through Saturday, and is looking forward to having you drop by.

Constitutional Reform Task Force

Step One — Roundtable Meetings

The Government of Alberta has established a Constitutional Reform Task Force to examine our future in Confederation. The Task Force will seek the full participation of Albertans in the process.

As a first step, the Task Force is holding roundtable discussions with constitutional experts on the changing nature of federalism.

The meetings are open to the public and taped broadcasts will be aired on cable television across the province. Check your local papers for information or call 422-1510 through your RITE operator for further information.

As a second step, a discussion paper based on the roundtable meetings will be presented to Albertans.

Third, public hearings will be held throughout Alberta in order to develop an Alberta position on constitutional reform.

Finally, recommendations will be submitted to the Legislature for full public debate by all parties.

The first roundtable meetings were held October 26 and November 2. The final two roundtables will be held in Calgary, November 23, 9:00 a.m. - 12:30 p.m., McDougall Centre, 455 - 6 Street S.W. and in Edmonton, November 30, 9:00 a.m. - 12:30 p.m., Room 512, Legislature Building.

Elks eliminated from Sask-Alta league

Dear Hockey Fans:

It is with deep regret that we, the Elk Point Senior Hockey Club, will not be participating in the Sask-Alta Hockey League. This decision to be eliminated from the Sask-Alta Hockey League came as a result of a decision that was made by the league governors. They decided Elk Point lacked discipline for asking for rulings from the governors and also from the A.A.H.A.; these rulings are the basis of all Senior, Junior and Minor hockey in Alberta. The Elks complied with all the rulings, but due to the questioning of the rulings, the Elks were banished from the league.

The league, at the beginning of the season, stated that they were hoping to financially improve the league. We felt our team did, indeed, do this for them. Our games usually drew crowds of 300 or more and during the playoffs we filled the arena. We also filled the arena in Kitscoty during the playoffs. The league received a percentage of the playoff receipts, plus the fees that were charged to play in it. During the All-Star banquet, which a good percentage of the team attended, we were informed by a member of the league that we were not going to be in the league next year. How did he know this already? The banquet was held in February. The decision to keep us out of the league was supposedly not made until this October.

Senior hockey is on the decline. It seems odd that the pride of some people is so great that they can control who can and who can't play.

We are sorry that this letter had to be written and would like to take this opportunity to thank all the fans who supported us so generously over the season.

Elk Point Elks Hockey Team
Del Smith, President

Letter to the Editor

Congratulations to the Hospital Board

Dear Editor:

In reading the October 24th Lakeland Review headline regarding the 3 year accreditation award the hospital received I have to extend my sincere congratulations to the Elk Point Hospital Board, the Administration, and the Hospital Staff. This award denotes the continued excellence in patient care and in all areas of the hospital operation.

I am also very pleased with the quick response that the Board and Administrator initiated when Dr. Estey left. The community was left with only one physician but immediately a locum was recruited on a temporary basis. With the two new doctors opening their practices shortly, I am sure the Elk Point district's residents' health needs will be again amply supplied.

I understand that the Board was successful in having the government committed to continue the planning process for the Long Term Care Project. This is a highly needed facility. I am pleased that the work that was started several years ago is still ongoing. I wish the Board every success in their continued efforts to complete this project.

I must again congratulate the Board, the Administration, and the Staff for their good works in again attaining 3 years accreditation and in successfully providing continued medical services.

Yours truly,
John Williams

Janet Foster to visit library

Famed author, naturalist, photographer and filmmaker Janet Foster will be visiting Elk Point Public Library on Wednesday, November 14 at 7:30 p.m. with her slide and lecture presentation on nature and wildlife.

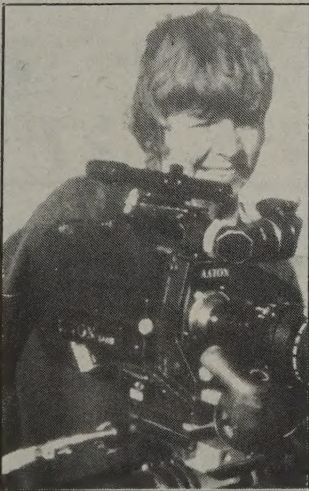

Mrs. Foster is the author of three children's books: A Cabin Full Of Mice, The Wilds of Whip-poor-will Farm, and Journey To The Top Of The World. She has also written a number of true nature stories for Owl and Chickadee children's magazines. With her husband John, she has co-authored two other books, To The Wild Country and Adventures In Wild Country, which were based on the couple's popular television series.

As well as two very popular TV series, the couple has written and co-hosted 24 television specials, produced and hosted a one hour special on BC's West Coast Trail and a seven part series of outdoor programs for TVOntario. More recently, they have been filming wildlife programs in both the USA and Canada for the series Family Of The Earth, a co-production between TVOntario and NKH Japan.

The Fosters make their home in a log cabin on an old farm in eastern Ontario, when they are not at work in Toronto.

Mrs. Foster is a professional still photographer, who gives many public slide lectures to adult audiences, as well as special programs to school children.

The general public is invited to attend Mrs. Foster's presentation in the Library meeting room. Refreshments will follow.
